Youngsters follow in Lewis-Francis footsteps

Among the wealth of talent to have emerged from the Norwich Union sports:hall national finals, the names of Stefan Ellis and Hannah Francis-Smithson are likely to be heard in coming years.

Sportshall has proved for the last decade that it has the capacity to spot emerging world-class talent. Ellis and Francis-Smithson finished as under-15 champions at the Birmingham National Indoor Arena after 400,000 schoolchildren had competed for their counties in the qualifiers. Six hundred of them made it through to the finals.

Sportshall athletics was created by George Bunner MBE, now chairman of the Amateur Athletic Association, more than 30 years ago to give children a first taste of indoor competitive athletics.

The events include sprinting, speed bounce (jumping back and forth across a barrier as many times as possible in a minute), the standing long jump, standing triple jump, high jump, standing high jump and shot-put. The team event also includes sprint relays. With a sliding points scale from first place downwards, all athletes count their best three events for an overall score.

Olympic medallists Mark Lewis-Francis and Kelly Sotherton are former winners of this competition, and many of the Great Britain senior team - including Paula Radcliffe, Denise Lewis, Jamie Baulch, and Sarah Claxton - took part in it on their roads to success.

Another name that has recently come to attention is Jade Surman, the girls' under-15 champion in 2003 and 2004. The heptathlete, who is now 15 and competes for Birchfield Harriers, has represented the Norwich Union Great Britain team at under-20 level, beating France and Spain.

Surman also took the Norwich Union AAAs under-17 long jump title with an indoor personal best of 5.90 metres. Her outdoor personal best, achieved when she was 14, is 6.07m. That jump alone would have given her fifth place in the senior women's Norwich Union European Trials and AAA Championships.

Lewis-Francis, under-15 boys' winner in 1998, said the competition had given him a first experience of preparing hard to win. "I remember working really hard for this competition and loved taking part," he said. "It's a fantastic competition where I prepared for the outdoor season and made loads of friends. It really does provide an excellent stepping-stone into competitive athletics, but most of all it's great fun."

Sotherton, the girls' champion in 1992, believes a good coach is crucial to success. "After winning sports:hall, it took me 12 years to find somebody to find my full potential," she said. "You need someone you believe and trust in. You can have all the talent in the world, but it's wasted if someone can't unlock that."

Francis-Smithson's role model is Gail Devers and she is looking forward to hurdling herself in the outdoor season. She said: "It's brilliant to have won. I finished third last year so I really wanted this."

Stefan Ellis, a sprinter, cites Lewis-Francis and Jason Gardener as role models. He said: "Winning this means everything and knowing Mark would be presenting the awards made me put even more effort into it. I have now achieved what Mark did at my age and that's a great inspiration. I would love to emulate him and be part of the Olympics - especially if they're in London."
